As the first serious snowflakes of the winter made their appearance in Minden last week, the municipal staff were trimming the downtown for the festive season. Each of the lampposts in the downtown area now has a decorative, lighted wreath. Strings of lights were also installed to add to the festive touch.

Hydro re-alignment will affect 13 at Minden office

by Andrew Milne

A spokesperson for Ontario Hydro said last week that 13 jobs would be affected in the Minden office due to the impending re-alignment at the utility.

He could not say, however, exactly how many layoffs that might mean.

Rick Kellestine is customer operations manager for the Minden office.

"There's going to be 13 staff affected," said Kellestine, "but to say that it's going to cost 13 jobs is probably not a fair statement because they do have the opportunity at those jobs, just in a different location. It may mean a matter of commuting or relocating."

The jobs are leaving Minden because Ontario Hydro chose recently to dissolve two of its utilities — one of which is the Lakeland utility that served the local area and included the Minden office — to cut costs.

In doing so, it "re-aligned" the Minden office with a neighbouring utility — that serving Muskoka.

John Rogers is the utility manager for the Muskoka-Parry Sound utility.

"The main changes that are going to take place through this," said Rogers, "is that billing is going to be centralized at Bracebridge. That will not affect a customer who phones in to ask or talk about their bill. They'll still have a number to phone at no cost. And the office in Minden will remain open. People will be able to go in and talk with people at the counter and find out information. There should be no reduction in the level of service. This is working on efficiency and trying to maintain or improve services while reducing cost."

However, it does mean that those jobs leave town.

"Within the accounting group," said Kellestine, "our billing function — that's located in our local office here — that's going to be centralized out of the Bracebridge office. So those jobs won't exist in our local location. But the jobs will continue to exist in the Bracebridge location. And these girls would have the opportunities at those jobs over in the Bracebridge office."

Hydro has four staff working on billing at the Minden office, says Kellestine.

Certain staff in clerical, lines, and forestry will also be affected, he says.

$2 million fund

Woodlot support plan rejected by local forest owner

by Andrew Milne

Ontario's Minister of Natural Resources Howard Hampton announced November 24 that his ministry will establish a $2 million fund for the assistance of woodlot owners.

But one local forest owner says the initiative does nothing to address the problems private forest owners are facing.

Hampton also made comments, in the context of a discussion of the new program, to the effect that the Managed Forest Land Tax Rebate program the foresters want reinstated was badly flawed, and effectively subsidizes large landowners.

"Put it this way," he said. "Some of the people who were receiving the largest tax rebates were not really practising sustainable forestry. They were large landowners, that's all. I think the question you ought to frame is this: should the province be subsidizing people so they can be large landowners? I don't know what the policy basis is for that."

There have been numerous protests recently by Haliburton area woodlot owners upset by a taxation system they say forces them to destroy their forests or face bankruptcy.

In one particularly well-publicized protest, Peter Schleifenbaum, owner of the 50,000 acre Haliburton Forest and Wildlife Reserve, clearcut a 38 acre section of his land. The cut — which was in full view of a public road — was to demonstrate what would happen to the entire area if something was not done about the tax rates, said Schleifenbaum.

Clear-cutting is an often unpopular forestry practice in which entire stands of timber are cut to the ground, leaving only stumps.

Schleifenbaum and a number of other — mostly smaller — woodlot owners, organized as the Haliburton Forest Owners' Association, said that at the current rates of taxation, sustainable forestry practices — in which harvesting is carried out at a rate and fashion to neither deplete forest sizes nor diversity — were too expensive to maintain. Eventually, they said, if they had to keep paying at the current rates of taxation, they would have to harvest so heavily that all of their lands would look like Schleifenbaum's clearcut.

The other traditional method of raising money from real estate — parcelling off and developing lots — would also result in destruction of the forests, said forest owners.

Prior to 1993, a rebate program run by the Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) refunded a portion of taxes to woodlot owners providing they followed certain standards of woodlot management, in order to offset this problem.

However, shortly after coming to power, the current On-

MOEE investigation concluded

Pails found in Stanhope contained hazardous liquid

by Andrew Milne

Authorities have identified the contents of three chemical pails found by the side of a road near Carnarvon earlier this year.

A chemical analysis done on the contents identified one as containing a mixture of a heavy oil and water. The others contained small quantities of potassium hydroxide, polyvinyl alcohol, and an organophosphoric material.

The pails were found by the side of the Peterson Road, near the intersection with Highway 118 east of Carnarvon. Robert Davies of Peach Lake was picking berries when he noticed the three five gallon pails with rusting metal fittings.

Notified by Davies, The Times visited the site September 27 and found the pails — which were giving off a faint chemical odour, and which were stamped with the name of a Mississauga chemical company.

When notified, the company called the Ministry of Environment and Energy (MOEE), which had tests done to identify the contents.

Bill Thompson, who investigated the find for the MOEE, says, that since there is nothing to indicate that there was any leakage from the pails, he doesn't feel any environmental damage was done.

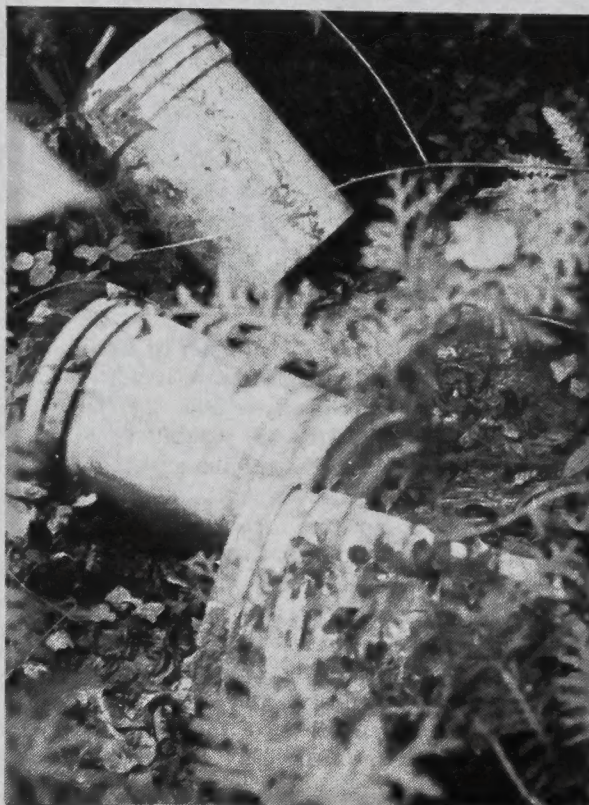

He also doesn't expect it is going to be possible to determine who actually left the chemicals by the road. Anyone, he says, could have just picked up the pails from a landfill and then used them for their own purposes.

Potassium hydroxide is extremely corrosive. Thompson was as yet unsure of any hazards posed by the other chemicals.

He says finds of this nature haven't been a common occurrence in this area.

"It's the first I've ever run into it in 21 years," he said.

The pails are currently in the custody of the Municipality of Stanhope, and will be until such time as the MOEE is able to instruct them as to how to dispose of their contents.

These pails, containing toxic substances were found near Highway 118, east of Carnarvon.

Phonebusters probe offer of 20 calendars for $500CAUTION: the next phone call could prove to be very costly

by Andrew Milne

A Minden resident contacted by a telemarketing firm last week was wise to keep her money, say police.

Phonebusters — a unit of the OPP which investigates cases of telemarketing fraud — has received 67 complaints about the firm in the last eight months.

Mary Shaw, resident on the Horse-shoe Lake Road, says she was contacted by the firm November 23.

First, says Shaw, a man called, identifying himself as Jeff Walsh.

"And he said he was from BBI," she says. "Now I don't know what BBI is. He didn't tell me."

"A second fella called me back in the afternoon," she continues, "wanting to know why I wouldn't take their wonderful offer of twenty calendars for only $500.... I asked the second fellow, 'These calendars that you're trying to sell me for $500, are they gold-lined or something that we have to pay so much for them?' 'Oh no,' he says, 'didn't anybody tell you? This is for charity. It's for abused children.'"

"I told them that I was on a very small pension," says Shaw. "Well then they wanted me to put it on Mastercard or give them post-dated cheques for it."

Shaw says she was also told she could win a prize. Various merchandise was mentioned, she says, including a colour television and a jeep.

Shaw called the police, and was directed to detective staff-sergeant Barry Elliott, of Phonebusters.

Elliott says that, although he can't say if the police expect to bring criminal proceedings against the firm, his unit has already received a number of complaints against BBI, which he believes stands for Byron Business Innovations, a firm operating out of Montreal.

"We have collected information on that company," he says, "and we have concerns about the pitch."

"Since May 1994 we've received 67 complaints," says Elliott. "And of those 67, 13 have lost money... and 54 are complaining about attempts that were made over the phone."

Shaw is one of those 54, he says.

Elliott also says the pitch Shaw describes is typical of a number of firms committing telemarketing frauds.

"One of the common pitches being used by suspect telemarketers is the prize pitch," he says. "You've won two or three or five prizes. Where in fact you haven't won anything. They're just using those prizes which they will inflate in value — they may even directly tell you that you've won the car or you've won the bond, or whatever, and you're under the illusion that you're getting something of great value. And to get this prize that you've won, you have to order products through the company. And these products are usually quite overpriced."

Associating themselves with a charity is another common ploy, he says.

Elliott tells consumers to be especially careful conducting business over the phone. In particular, he points out that, if they called you, you really have no idea who or where they actually are.

"When somebody calls you," he says, "you have no idea who you are speaking to. No matter what they say, you have no idea who you're speaking to. So we do not recommend that you send advance fees..."

Also we don't recommend that you give out your credit card number

So if it's high pressure sales, over the phone, then we suggest you sit back, get the company whoever it is to send you something if you're interested, and check into it before you send money."

Elliott also said he feels his unit is making progress against telemarketing fraud.

"Phonebusters has been extremely successful," he says, "in reducing this fraud down from what was believed to be $80 million to $100 million per annum in 1991-1992 to about 50 percent of that in less than two years. And we have laid criminal charges, and we have taken a lot of proactive efforts into reducing their ability to operate... We're prosecuting for defrauding the public and conspiracy to defraud the public, and we will be laying more charges and issuing more arrest warrants, involving about 15,000 victims who have lost about $15 million across the county in 1994."

Elliott also cautions people about the use of money orders. Phonebusters has been able to prevent certain suspect companies, from being able to use credit cards, he says. But they try to get around it by using cheques or money orders.

"Now what they do," he says, "is they'll send a courier service over to pick up the cheque, or a money order. You can't put a stop payment on a money order. So we don't recommend you send money orders because you can't put a stop payment on it. And if you're going to respond to something like this, if you send a cheque at least it gives you a couple days to check it out, and to put a stop payment on it if it doesn't turn out to be what you think it is."

Phonebusters can be reached at (705) 495-8501. The fax number is (705) 494-4008.

Forest owner says program announced by Hampton will do little to solve tax problem

tario government announced they would scrap the program, as part of cost-cutting measures.

As of 1993, this was carried out, and persons owning forested lands were paying tax allotments which the Haliburton group — organized as the Haliburton Forest Owners' Association (HFOA) — said were too expensive.

Among other actions, the HFOA had threatened to close off all public access to their lands as of November 1, 1994 if the government didn't take action. Local business owners, concerned this action would kill a winter tourist economy based on snowmobiling and cross-country skiing, expressed alarm over this decision. Both these activities depend partially on trail systems that cross privately held lands.

In mid-October, the HFOA rescinded their threat, saying they would wait for the next government to come to power.

The provincial NDP, currently in power, has to call an election within the year.

Hampton says that the initiative — dubbed the Private Forests Sustainability Program — is to provide to forest owners policies, education, information resources, financial incentives and opportunities to work with private sector partners, including sawmills and tourist associations such as snowmobile clubs — to make good stewardship of their lands easier.

It isn't specifically in response to the local forest owners' concerns, he says.

"It is a fund," says Hampton. "It is not a fund to be used by the MNR. Our intention is this would be used as seed money. What we're interested in doing is using the seed money to attract money from private sector organizations. We also believe the federal government has a role here since they fund private woodlots in Quebec and the maritimes very heavily."

Schleifenbaum, however, says he is not the least bit pleased with the MNR initiative.

Says Schleifenbaum, "it's really a slap in the face to forest owners. It doesn't address the problem that they have. The problem is the taxation problem. It doesn't even mention that in the news release. I can't see anything in it that would be useful for us, anyways."

What would have made him happy, he says, would have been a reinstatement of the tax rebate system, or some other addressing of the tax rates forest owners say are too high.

Schleifenbaum also criticized the idea of establishing committees to assist in the management of private forest lands, as too intrusive.

Said Schleifenbaum, "One of the things in the news release is that it is going to be set up similarly to the CFIP — that's the Community Fisheries Involvement Program. The only difference is that the CFIP is looking after a public resource — the fisheries — and this is looking after a private resource. I will certainly not subject our forests to a committee where I don't even know where the professional background comes from."

Hampton, however, says the committees aren't intended in that spirit.

Says Hampton, "We're not trying to tell anyone how to do anything. What we're saying is there is an opportunity here, and the government will support that opportunity for woodlot owners to come together, to organize with industrial partners, to optimize revenue flows from their woodlot, all the time doing it on a sustainable basis. There may be some woodlot owners say, well, I don't want to take part in this. There's no lever here to force people to take part."

Hampton also says that it isn't entirely within the provincial government's purview to address the taxation issue.

Says Hampton, "The reality is that it's municipalities who set the property tax rate. The province can influence how property is assessed... we could say well, forest land should only be assessed at half the level that residential land is. But if the municipality continues to set high mill rates, most of what the province might try to do might be offset."

"The ministries that are principally involved here," he continues, "the MNR, Ministry of Culture, Tourism and Recreation, and the Ministry of Agriculture, Food and Rural Affairs — agree with the position the Fair Tax Commission set out; in fact we argued for that position, that forested land ought to be assessed differently. But to achieve the longer term resolution on that issue, we're going to have to get the municipalities onside too. And there's a willingness to do that."

"But aside from that tax question," he says, "it's my view, and it's shared by, for example, the Minister of Agriculture, that we do have to have a concrete approach to sustainable forestry on private woodlots."

Chris Hodgson, MPP for Victoria-Haliburton and natural resources critic for the provincial Tories, says however, that tax reform is the provincial government's problem, and that the mere fact that the system was flawed does not justify throwing it out.

And in any case, he says, the government should not have removed the bandage — the rebate system — unless they were willing to do the surgery — that is to reform the tax system.

"The point I made in question period was this," said Hodgson. "The Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Affairs, they met their expenditure reduction targets by cutting down the size of bureaucracy. They kept the programs in place that helped the people in rural Ontario — like the land based rebate."

"In the MNR," he continued, "they chose to meet their expenditure reduction targets by cancelling a program that helped people in rural Ontario."

"Now he says there were abuses in the past. Well that's true. And that's why they made those changes to tighten it up in the early 90s. It doesn't mean you throw out the whole program. You block the holes that have lead to abuses."

Runner-up winner of $500 was Terri Gardner. Waind shared her good luck and donated $100 of her winning to the community work of the Lions Club.

MEMBER ORDER OF THE GOLDEN RULE

Are we ready for Canada's break-up?

by Andrew Milne

David Geary says he doesn't want to see Quebec separate.

But in the event that it does, he says, he would like to see that the rest of the country is ready for it.

And, since he doesn't feel the current government is taking this concern seriously enough, he's organizing a letter-writing campaign, in hopes that someone will.

Geary lives on Soyer's Lake, near Haliburton. He's organized a small group of friends to help with the campaign. Among those helping with the effort are Munroe Scott, Gerry Nason, Ed and Billie Pickard, Gord Ogg, Ross Partridge and Geary's wife Hilda.

He says he does hope the people of Quebec will vote no in the proposed referendum on separation.

"Our first statement," he says, "declares solemnly that we hope the people of Quebec will eventually vote no to a referendum on separation."

"However," he continues, "in view of the fact that the people of Quebec voted in a free democratic election for the PQ, my feelings were that we must have a plan. I just cannot understand or comprehend our political leaders moving down the road towards this Quebec referendum, and having absolutely no idea what they're going to do if the referendum says yes."

Geary's group has therefore written letters to all five leaders of political parties currently sitting in the house of commons. Among the questions he wants answered, he says, is that he wants to know what will become of the members of the house — including the prime minister — who themselves come from Quebec.

"We addressed it formally," he said, "with eight specific questions to each of the five members of parliament who are leaders of political parties in the house of commons. We then made up short covering notes, and I sent it out to a large group of other people, including our local MP, our local MPP, Ovide Mercredi, Daniel Johnson, Joe Clark and quite a few other people."

"And to tell you the truth," said Geary, "we've received a total of four responses."

"One was the deputy prime-minister. In my covering note... I said 'I assume that you would become acting prime minister the day after a referendum.' Maybe that's why I got a response, but all it was was an acknowledgement from her executive assistant, saying 'I received your letter, and it will be drawn to the minister's attention.' And nothing further has happened."

"Our local member of parliament John O'Reilley — his office wrote a nice letter thanking me and saying we don't think Quebec will separate, and therefore we're going to work to unify Canada. Audrey McLaughlin, the letter was exactly the same. It just arrived the other day. And the only one that was a slightly positive one came from Chris Hodgson, our MPP, and he said 'You have some very good ideas and vitally important points,' and he said 'I'm drawing them to the attention of the premier, and asking him how they affect Ontario citizens, and as soon as I get a response I'll reply to you."

Geary says his group expects to continue with their actions.

"I really want to try and impress people with the importance of this," he says. "Everybody I've talked to, I've had to talk them into coming to the meeting."

"But after I've talked to them, they start to think."

AHM Reeve Bern Berry thanked at last meeting

by Jerry Grozelle

(Items from the November 24 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council meeting.)

BERRY THANKED

The council of Anson, Hindon and Minden for the past three years met for the last time as a group last week. Outgoing reeve Bern Berry received a unanimous vote of thanks from his fellow councillors for his service and dedication to the municipality.

"It was great working with you people," Berry said. "I know (the new council) will continue to go forward."

After the meeting, Berry admitted that he will miss being a member of AH&M council, after nine years of service. He expects the municipality to continue to prosper, but he said: "I'm disappointed that I won't be a part of it."

SKIERS SUFFER SETBACK

A request from the Haliburton Highlands Nordic Ski Trail Association for $1,000 worth of bulldozer time to work on a ski trail was turned down by council.

"It appeared we'd have to go much deeper into the budget to find that kind of money so we had to vote against it," said councillor Jeanne Anthon after the meeting. "That's very sad, because we all expressed interest in improving the trails in the Minden area but to respond to a spontaneous request like that is very difficult."

"We hope by next year we have a real plan presented to us and we'll have been able to budget appropriately and perhaps come up with much better financial help for them," Anthon added.

Association representatives Peter Brogden, Bruce MacAdie and Wayne Cowling attended council asking for municipal support to open a section of trail from Hart lodge to Queen's Line. Government funding in the amount of $100,000 (an Environmental Youth Corps grant of $30,000 and another $70,000 job creation grant) to hire people to work on the trail system in Haliburton County has been approved and some of the work has been completed. Conditions of the grants specify that the funds must be used to help create employment. Hiring a bulldozer and operator don't fall within the parameters of the grant structure.

Brogden was contacted after the meeting and he said that he had gone back to the trail site where the bulldozer work was needed. He said that the property owner had already done some road work near the site and by using those roads, part of the obstacle could be skirted. "We found one road that might actually provide a respectable bypass," Brogden said.

He said that the association may approach council again with a request for a lesser amount.

"It's a bit of a disappointment (having the request turned down) but the news isn't completely black, after finding that extra bit of road this morning," Brogden said.

The aim of the association is to increase the trail network, provide good access points for skiers, make sure that grooming can be done efficiently and generally provide better service for skiers.

Community supports old mill park in Kinmount

by Jerry Grozelle

Kinmount's community spirit is shining through with the support that is being shown for the proposed Kinmount Railway/Mill/Parkland Development Project. The project has been generated by the Kinmount Committee for Planning and Economic Development, which has been more commonly known as the Kinmount Civic Action Committee. It is a standing committee of Somerville Township.

Every active group in the village is represented at committee meetings and fund-raising for the project continues. In recent months, a bike-a-thon raised $1,110 and a fun night and sale of Kinmount Fair sweat shirts netted more than $1,000. In addition, a 50/50 draw, book sale, corn roast, auction and other events have been held by various groups, with the goal of raising funds to see this project to fruition. Municipal officials have even taken turns in a dunk tank to raise money for the venture.

The committee will apply for a Jobs Ontario grant next February. If it is forthcoming, the grant would match funds raised by the community for the project. Under the terms of the grant, any money, labour or materials that are donated would qualify for an equal value in funding from the government. All the committee needs is a receipt for the value of the donation. Donors will be issued with an official tax receipt.

Transfer of the one-acre parcel of land owned by the County of Victoria to the Township of Somerville will be in the form of a 20-year lease. A similar arrangement has been made with the Austin family, owners of the nine acres on which the mill sits. The acquisition of property was vital to the project.

It is hoped that the proposal will serve to assure the Ministry of Tourism, Culture and Recreation of the commitment to this project by the community.

and picnic tables.

The committee is exploring the possibility of setting up a tourist information centre in part of the old train station next summer. Application would be made for government funding to hire a student to operate the centre.

The Kawartha Region Conservation Authority is providing resources in support of the project.

Victoria-Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson has given the committee his assurance that he will support the project in any way he is able.

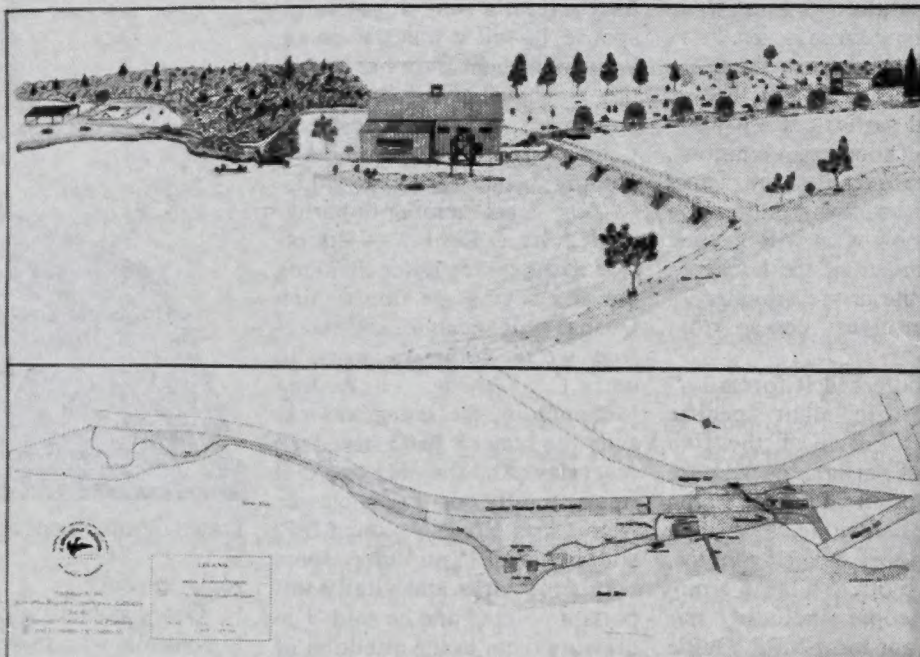

Area municipalities, including Somerville, Snowdon, Galway-Cavendish and Lutterworth have also pledged support for the project. They recognize the boon to all of the communities along the old railway corridor.

Committee meetings are held at the old train station in Kinmount on the third Monday of each month, starting at 7:30 p.m. The committee has indicated that everyone who is interested in the project is welcome to attend. Any ideas for fund-raising projects would be especially appreciated by the committee and volunteer help is always encouraged.

When the completion of phase one has been realized, the committee will launch a drive to initiate an even more ambitious undertaking -- the restoration of the sawmill to working condition.

When it is completed, the project is expected to be a tremendous tourist draw for Kinmount and the surrounding area, with a corresponding influx of tourist dollars to the economy. In addition, the increased tourist traffic is expected to encourage the development of more small businesses, adding to the prosperity of the region.

KINMOUNT RAILWAY STATION, SAWMILL, PARKLAND DEVELOPMENT PROPOSAL

Development of the parkland will cost an estimated $120,000. Calculated into that figure are such expenses as site cleanup and preparation, grading, safety fencing, landscaping, garbage receptacles, parking lot work, riverside benches, a picnic shelter, a riverside walkway, construction of a lookout where the water tower stood, vault privies, canoe launches, playground equipment

Protecting rural Ontario

There is a disturbing, and some might even say, sinister, process taking place in rural Ontario. Small communities, such as ours, are slowly being strangled as senior levels of government and their agencies respond to the cry for more belt tightening.

We endorse the need for more restraint and lower taxes at all levels of government and we realize that the inevitable result will be a reduction in the number of employees at the various agencies. However, we question the wisdom of reductions which slice into the well-being of smaller communities.

Over the past few years we have witnessed the reduction in staff numbers and downgrading of status at a number of local government offices. That trend will, no doubt, continue. What is frustrating is that while some of the cuts have involved the elimination of positions, others have resulted in the transfer of positions out of the area. It is this latter group in the restructuring process that concern us.

A wage earning position lost to a community our size has a much deeper effect on the local economy than in a centre with a larger population. Here it is much more difficult to find another employment opportunity and when the income is withdrawn from the local economy its "ripple effect" is much stronger and more pronounced. The wage lost is also often the second, and sustaining, portion of a total family income. Once again the difficulty in finding another job in a small community only adds to the burden of the family and the local economy.

If the senior levels of government are interested in protecting the well-being of smaller rural communities, then before they begin a restructuring process, they should consider carefully the impact the action will have on each community. There are ways of achieving the desired economies and also helping to sustain the economic well-being of rural Ontario.

Let's show a little kindness

Editor:

I am happy to hear the emergency house is progressing once again.

As on-site co-ordinator last spring I saw the generosity of the volunteers and businesses who donated their time and money to the cause. I saw first hand how hard Jude King and Gena Robertson worked, investigating how similar projects are run, their numerous meetings with town council, consultants and the public. I hope we will receive even more support than we had last spring.

The emergency house will provide women with a supportive environment to plan a new life and start building a better life for their children.

When someone comes looking for help I do what I can to lend a hand. Have you ever needed help and not been able to get it, leaving you feeling alone, scared, incompetent or helpless. Have you ever needed help and there was someone there to lend a hand? Even a stranger who helped you when your car broke down? Remember how fortunate, grateful, loved or lucky you felt. If you have ever been in either situation then you should be able to see the need to help people who are asking for it, and support them in their quest for a better life.

I would like everyone out there to reach deep inside themselves and pull out a little kindness and share it with someone who needs it. You'll be surprised how it spreads. Who knows, maybe we could all make a difference.

Karen Gustafson,
Minden.

Lack of response from MP angers reader

Editor:

An Open Letter to MP John O'Reilly,
Dear John,

I have had no response to my correspondence to you dated October 26, 1993 and personally delivered into your hands; then re-submitted to your office five months later.

You may recall, the three page covering letter opened with, "This is about a new social safety network idea." and concluded with, "Would you therefore be kind enough to quickly put me in touch with the people in your new administration, who would be able to help me with my comprehensive and timely Human Resources Vision?"

The body of this letter describes a 90s style entrepreneurial workers' cooperative, offering "incubation training programs" of my own design. It's a tool that creates jobs by teaching people new self-reliance skills in a tutorial fashion, - with special emphasis on our still emerging info-age economy:..."And entrepreneurial-proliferation offers the most economical and permanent jobs-solution possible, for all of Canada's communities."...pretty much sums up the jobs jobs jobs content.

Two other outlines were also enclosed, 13 pages of details in all including the fact that I had been developing my plan for nine years, with a concentrated effort since 1991.

I am currently working with the Ontario Worker Co-op Federation and the Canadian Co-operative Association and Credit Union Central of Ontario (all "umbrella" type groups) to bring my "community based employment" concepts, and other Community Economic Development (CED) ideas, to Victoria & Haliburton counties.

A number of other Canadian communities are successfully creating jobs and, a "seminar" to outline these new-innovations to everyone in our community is tentatively scheduled for January next year in Lindsay.

Many local co-ops and community groups and businesses will be taking part.

Which bring me to the reason for this letter:

The other day, in your "Question Period" response in the Lindsay Daily Post titled: "Social security system needs updating" - you closed with: "The House of Commons Standing Committee on Human Resources Development is travelling across the country listening to what Canadians have to say about where the reform should be focused and what direction they should take. I encourage every person of group to send their concerns to me and I will bring them to the committee's attention."

Well, after waiting a year, I can only conclude that as an $80,000 per year federal employee, you make a poor postal worker; I'll try a 43 cent stamp this time thank you.

Non-unionized workers feel discriminated against

Editor:

I am extremely disappointed and outraged with the government's last-minute Human Resources amendments to Bill 173 which discriminates against non-unionized community Long-Term Care workers.

Bill 173 will amalgamate all current Long Term Care services in a region into one Multi Service Agency. Despite months of Committee Hearings, public submissions and clause by clause review, the government has only now introduced amendments that will force MSA's to offer available jobs to unionized workers before they are offered to non-unionized workers no matter what length of service.

The amendments specifically say that "if a position performing work transferred from a previous employer is in a bargaining unit, the successor employer (MSA) shall make offers to persons employed by the previous employer in descending order of seniority...before a position is offered to a person not represented by the bargaining agent."

This means that someone with three years service in a bargaining unit will be offered a job before someone with 20 years experience without a collective agreement. This is unfair and it is discriminatory.

Reassurances from government that workers need not worry as "this is a growth sector" and there will be lots of jobs, are not convincing as there is no guarantee there will be enough jobs for all workers presently working in the sector. Currently there are cutbacks in community Long Term Care service in several parts of the province resulting in lay off situations.

Before the Bill receives third reading, this discriminatory requirement must be removed.

So what do you think of this column?

So what do you think of that headline? Good? Bad? Ho-hum? Well, don't blame me--I didn't write it.

Headlines are an interesting phenomenon. Imagine you are handed a story of say 750-1000 words by an editor with a cigar butt stuck in his beak, who removed the cigar butt long enough to growl "Here, punk--put a headline on this."

You know that you've got four, five, maybe a half a dozen words to sum up the story. What do you write?

If you are like most headline writers, nothing very interesting. New Republic magazine recently asked its readers to submit their idea of the most boring headlines they'd seen.

The magazine was inundated.

NEW ZEALAND: LABORATORY FOR AIR TRANSPORT DEVELOPMENT

read one entry.

ASTRONAUT GETS DEAD
NEWT OUT OF TANK

was another.

The Charleston Gazette submitted,

TOURIST BUREAUS MAY

CONSOLIDATE, BUT NOT RIGHT NOW.

This was challenged by an offering from an Atlanta paper:

LOCAL EARTHQUAKES RARELY NOTICED

The New Haven Register weighed in with

STATE MAY ALLOW DRIVERS TO PUT STICKER IN WINDOW

While the New York Times alerted its readers that

PROFESSORS IN 14 NATION STUDY SAY THEIR IDEAS ARE IGNORED

Chicago readers of the Daily Southtown were no doubt paralysed to learn that

O.J. CASE HINGES ON EVIDENCE

Interestingly enough, Canadian entries made up a fair proportion of the submissions.

MANY IGNORE CANADA'S DAY OF INDEPENDENCE

lamented the Sun Sentinel, while the Seattle Post Intelligencer harrumphed

CANADIAN WHEAT BLAMED

Canada's own Globe and Mail--the newspaper that is pleased to anoint itself

Canada's 'national' newspaper, hastened to inform the world:

CANADIANS CONTENT, SURVEY FINDS

I wish the New Republic survey had acknowledged other headline categories--cleverest headline for example. I've always admired the show business paper Variety for the shrewd conciseness of its headlines. Once when a blizzard paralysed Buffalo and would-be theatre goers, Variety summed up the situation with

BLIZ BOFFS BUFF BIZ

Another time, when surveys indicated that rural audiences did not flock to movies whose themes were rural or agricultural, Variety boiled it down to this headline:

STIX NIX HIX PIX

Remember when Washington announced it would no longer bail out New York City financially The New York Post summed up the situation pithily with the headline:

FEDS TO NEW YORK: DROP DEAD

There are a lot of headline categories the New Republic could have honoured-- how about "Most Unintentionally Hilarious Headline"? There is a paper bagful of entries in this department--how about

FATHER OF NINE FINED
$100 FOR FAILURE TO STOP or this headline in the *New York Herald

DEAD POLICEMAN ON FORCE 23 YEARS

The Baltimore editor who ok'd this headline may never live it down:

FLORIST ASKS GIRLS TO DROP STRAPLESS GOWNS

And how would you like to be an editor on the San Francisco newspaper which ran this headline:

ESCAPED LEOPARD BELIEVED SPOTTED

Dullest headline? Well according to the arbiters of the New Republic contest, the honour goes to the editorial department of the Huntsville Alabama Courier, which ran a story under this flag:

LOCAL WOMAN, 82 CLEANS OUT DESK

Personally, I can think of a half a dozen stories that bubble up from six poignant words like that.

But then, I don't write headlines for a living.

No salary cap for these athletes

Here is one sport that isn't on strike

The 1994 baseball season went up the spout. Looks as though the 1994/95 hockey season is in danger of going the same way. And if the Raptors, Toronto's new basketball franchise, doesn't meet its sales targets, there won't be any slam-dunking in the shadow of the CN Tower, either.

But there is one professional sport that spectators can always count on: sled-dog racing.

All across North America, mushers and their canine cohorts are in training for the up-coming season. The dogs aren't worried about salary caps or a percentage of promotional sales or pension contributions. They do respond to first-class care, including top-of-the-line feeding programs, proper housing, expert medical attention, and a carefully planned and executed training regimen. They respond with enthusiasm by doing what they've been bred to do: run.

To ensure the well-being and safety of the dogs, the Minden Techni-cal Challenge seeks sanctioning annually by the International Sled Dog Racing Association.

ISDRA ensures that the race and surrounding organization meet high standards designed to ensure the safety of the dogs and create a smooth-running event. The Minden Techni-cal Challenge receives an "Excellent" rating every year.

The Minden Techni-cal Challenge is one of the premier events on the pro racing circuit. It combines the most challenging race course on the continent and the largest purse in North America to create the world's largest limited-class speed race for sled dogs. As a result, it attracts the top professional dog drivers and the finest canine athletes. They compete not only for money — $25,100 provided by race sponsor Martin Pet Foods — but for maximum points towards international medals.

The 11th running of the Minden Techni-cal Challenge will take place on January 21 and 22, 1995. The Main Street start and finish for the race provide spectators with a front-row view of all the excitement. In addition, they can visit the dog lot to look over the animals and talk with the mushers. "Catch The Drift", a song written and recorded by local musicians, will once again be the theme song for the entire weekend.

The Haliburton Highlands is well-known as a summer-time recreational playground. The Minden Techni-cal Challenge is one of several events that show off the area's beauties in winter. The extensive tourist facilities of the Haliburton Highlands are ready to welcome all those who visit the area for this exciting family weekend.

Redmen dominate in 6-1 victory over Falcons

by Jerry Grozelle

Domination was the name of the game when the HHSS Redmen played host to the Fenelon Falls Falcons in Kawartha High School Hockey action Wednesday in Haliburton. The Redmen dominated the Falcons at both ends of the rink, skating to a 6-1 victory.

The win over Fenelon was the fourth straight for the Redmen.

Kevin Morissette one-timed the puck past Fenelon goaltender Ryan Lindquist four and a half minutes into the game. Mark Morissette took the puck behind the Fenelon net and passed it out to his brother in the slot. Tim Stouffer helped set up the game's first goal.

The Redmen went ahead 2-0 with 3:55 left in the opening frame. Jackie Morrison batted a bouncing puck into the Falcons' net from close range. Mark Stamp and Morrison assisted.

A single, unanswered goal was added to the Haliburton tally in the second period. With the Falcons two men short, the Redmen moved the puck around in the Fenelon end looking for a good opportunity. The disc came back to Haliburton captain Jonathan Bishop, who was stationed just inside the Fenelon blue line. Bishop's shot sailed past Lindquist and the Redmen were up 3-0. Stamp and Morrison drew assists.

The Haliburton assault continued into the third period. Five minutes into the frame, Stamp took advantage of a Fenelon defensive miscue. He was cruising in front when a clearing pass bounced off a leg where Stamp seized the opportunity. He deked the goalie and shoveled the backhand into the open net.

With eight minutes left in the game and Justin Rowden making some spectacular saves between the Haliburton pipes, many of the hometown fans were thinking shutout. But it wasn't to be. With 7:59 showing on the clock before the final buzzer, an errant rebound was batted past Rowden from a sharp angle and the Falcons were on the scoreboard.

Miscue: A defensive miscue in front of the Fenelon net five minutes into the third period led to a goal by Haliburton's Jason Stamp. The Redmen forward leads the scoring race with 15 points from eight goals and seven assists.

Three minutes later, Kevin Morissette scored his second goal of the game for the Redmen, pounding a rebound into the open side. Mark Morissette assisted.

The Redmen added insult to injury, scoring on a two-man break with 3:12 left in the game. Dennis Woods took the puck in on the left wing. Opting to take the shot, he picked the corner and made the shot count. Stamp assisted on that goal.

The next home game for the Redmen will be Wednesday, November 30 against the Weldon Wildcats at 8 p.m.

Referees, coaches and helpers needed

Hockey club for youngsters being organized in Kinmount

by Jerry Grozelle

Dave and Holly Lougheed are trying to get a recreational hockey league for youngsters aged four to 12 established in Kinmount. The league will be for those youngsters who might not otherwise have the opportunity to play.

Quite a bit of the footwork has already been done. Dave has approached the Kinmount Lions Club, which is providing three hours of free ice time per week, from 9 a.m. to noon on Sundays. The Lions Club also donated paint for a fresh coat on the boards.

The Kinmount Fair Board purchased some new mercury lights, which have been installed at the Kinmount Arena.

The Kinmount Legion and the Kinmount Civic Action Committee and the council of the municipality of Galway-Cavendish will be helping out financially with the project.

Dave said that Kinmount blacksmith Kevin Robillard has some experience helping to maintain the arena and he has been contributing to this project with labour, material and experience. Several people have been assisting by helping to paint the boards to brighten the interior of the arena.

At this point, the hockey league will be for kids who live in the immediate Kinmount area. One of the reasons behind limiting the participation to the immediate area is to make sure that players from larger centres don't come out and dominate the play while the learners are struggling to hone their skills. It is expected that most of the youngsters who sign up for this league will not be experienced hockey players.

Dave says he hopes to have enough players to form at least two teams in each of three age groups, 4-6, 7-9 and 10-12. The initial target is a minimum of 18 players for each division so they will have at least two teams in each.

He is looking for volunteers to coach and referee, as well as parents to come out and help do up skates for the younger players, and people to help teach the youngsters to skate once they get all their gear on. Some fathers of potential players have already volunteered their time and energy to the project.

Holly stressed that parents are encouraged to bring their youngsters and stay to help out or to just watch the games and cheer on their future NHL stars.

Sponsors will be needed to provide team sweaters. Dave says donations of equipment or cash to buy some used equipment would be appreciated.

An organizational meeting was held Sunday, November 27 at the Kinmount Community Centre. Another meeting is set for this coming Sunday at 1 p.m. for youngsters to register. A nominal fee of $25 per player will be charged for registration. Anyone interested in helping out with the organization and operation of the league is asked to attend. The newly formed organization will be known as the Kinmount Hockey Club.

The Kinmount arena doesn't have an ice making plant. It is dependent on Mother Nature to provide the freezing temperatures to make ice. The arena is expected to be in operation by mid December.

Dave and Holly Lougheed would like to hear from anyone interested in coaching, refereeing or helping out with the organization and/or operation of the league. They can be reached at 488-3177 for more information.

Semifinalists: The Archie Stouffer Elementary School girls' volleyball team advanced to the semifinals of the tournament at J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School in Haliburton last Wednesday. Legion bantams blank Mariposa 7-0

Blair Johnson earns shutout

Rebounding from a 9-1 loss in Sunderland on November 19, the Minden Legion bantam B Monarchs blanked Mariposa 7-0 two days later in Oakwood.

Blair Johnson played an outstanding game between the pipes in Oakwood for the Monarchs to earn the shutout.

Jason Horsley scored a hat trick and assisted on one more to lead the Legion squad to victory. Steve Hutchinson notched two markers and single goals were scored by Kirk Smith and Matt Cheeseman. Jason Kasepчук helped the cause with two assists and Rod Upton set up one goal.

Curtis Barry was the lone Minden marksman in Sunderland. Kasepчук assisted.

The Legion boys were slated to play host to Manvers yesterday (November 27). Their next game is scheduled for Saturday, November 3, when they will entertain Mariposa at the Minden arena. Starting time will be 6 p.m.

Atom Bs down Haliburton

Minden's atom B Monarchs treated their fans to an exciting hockey game on November 17.

The Monarchs doubled the visiting Haliburton Huskies 4-2 in a game that kept the fans on the edge of their seats.

The Monarchs got on the scoreboard first when Ben Carpenter blasted a shot past the Haliburton netminder early in the second period. The game's opening goal was assisted by Brad Gauley and Colin Vaters.

Minden notched two more in the middle frame. Jordan Campbell was the marksman on the second Monarch goal, with Graham Neave and Justin Walker. Vaters netted the third marker on a wrap-around.

Carpenter rounded out the Minden scoring late in the third frame. Carpenter's second goal of the game was set up by Vaters and Matt Restoule.

Greg Vanderlip and Anthony Wu played a strong game on defense for the Monarchs and both goalies, Mark Snell and Barry Donn, were outstanding between the pipes.

The team missed Chris Boxall, who was unable to play because of illness. He is expected back in the lineup soon.

The next home game is this Saturday, December 3, at 1 p.m.

Hamilton notches seven points

by Jerry Grozelle

The Minden Men's Hockey Association resumed regular season action on November 21 after a two-week lay-off for the deer hunt.

Times 9, Hartwick 1

The first of three games saw The Times trounce Hartwick Construction 9-1.

The Times led 3-0 at the end of the first period and went ahead 4-0 in the second half before Hartwick got on the scoreboard. Five unanswered Times goals in the second period rounded out the game's scoring.

Dennis McKee scored a hat trick for the winners and added a pair of assists. Jeff Howe notched two goals and helped set up three more. Paul Mayo scored twice and assisted on one. Steve Crowe and Ron May were the other Times snipers with one goal and one assist each. Jeff Campbell and Mark Thompson helped the cause with one assist apiece.

Paul Humber played a strong game in the Times net.

Ritchie Mills was the lone marksman for Hartwick, with Gord Wood assisting.

Westside 11, KDD 4

Westside Jug City skated to an 11-4 victory over Kountry Double D in the evening's second game. Westside led 7-2 at the half and maintained at least a six-goal lead throughout the rest of the game.

Scott Hamilton picked up seven points for Westside, with four goals and two assists. Dave Ross scored twice and assisted on three more. Dave Rogers had a goal and three assists. Craig Crowe and Scott Danilko notched one goal and one assist apiece. Paul Walker and Andy Campbell were the other goal scorers with one each. John Fedeski and Monty Miscio had one assist each.

Charlie Teljeur, Rob Adams, Bill Hogg and Ben Manuge were the sharpshooters for the KDD team, with one goal apiece. Teljeur had a pair of assists to go with his goal; while Manuge and Adams had one assist each.

Stamp 3, Home 1

The night's third game was the lowest scoring of the three as Sid Stamp Fuels downed Home Hardware 3-1.

After a scoreless first half, Home Hardware opened the scoring with a goal by Kim Colliss, from Kent Taylor and Lawrence Lougheed.

Three unanswered goals by the Stamp squad put the game away.

Tom Miscio, Boomer Stamp and Tom Haley were the sharpshooters with one goal each. Single assists went to Dave Dollo and Greg Hurle.

250 pound 10-pointer wins Big Buck Contest

The second place entry was a 210 pound buck, taken by Merlyn Dobra.

Peter Walker of Minden took the third prize with his 204.6 pound buck.

Second and third place winners each received a trophy.

Rule of thumb for smart drinkers

If you choose to drink, enjoy. But before you sip, here are some tips to keep your risk of alcohol problems low.

- Tip 1. Count your drinks. Have no more than 12 drinks a week and no more than 4 drinks (men) or 3 drinks (women) on any day. The less you drink, the lower your risk.
- Tip 2. Count the time between drinks. Start slow and allow yourself one hour before your next drink to avoid becoming drunk.
- Tip 3. Give yourself a breather between drinks. Mineral water, dealcoholized beer and fruit drinks are good substitutes for alcohol.

Shaw scores hat trick against Cannington

Atom A Monarchs win two of three

by Jerry Grozelle

Three games in three days saw the Minden Atom A Monarchs come out on top in two of those contests.

The Monarchs started off with a 3-1 win in Woodville on November 18. Minden took the lead when Josh Shaw scored the only goal of the first period, converting a pass from Philip Greer.

Woodville tied the game with 2:33 left in the middle frame. But 33 seconds later, the Monarchs went ahead again on a goal by Ashley Pettes. Andy Kinsman assisted.

Before the second period ended, Shaw notched his second marker of the game. That unassisted goal was scored with 33 seconds showing on the clock.

The third period was scoreless as the Monarchs preserved the 3-1 win.

Bobcaygeon was the only sore spot of the week-end for the Monarchs. The Caygeon team went home from the Minden arena with a 5-3 win, mostly thanks to one player, Joel Stewart, who scored three goals and assisted on the other two.

Pettes netted two goals for the Minden squad. Shaw scored the other goal and assisted on one. Single assists went to Mark Hamilton and Kinsman.

The Monarchs got back on the winning track when they went to Cannington on November 20. Minden had to work for the win against Cannington, emerging with a 7-6 edge.

Josh Shaw was a one-man wrecking crew for Minden in the first period, scoring the first three goals (all unassisted). The Cannington coach recognized the threat Shaw posed and adjusted his strategy to keep the Minden captain in check after that.

By the end of the first period, Hamilton added one more to the Minden tally, from Kent Greer and Kinsman.

Cannington got one reply in the opening frame.

Scoring was even in the second period, with each team adding three to the scoreboard. The Minden marksmen were Jamie Colliss, Trevor Woods and Pettes. Woods and Pettes had one assist each, Kinsman helped set up two, while Shaw and Hamilton had one assist each.

Cannington came dangerously close to tying the game in the third. The home team scored twice, while holding Minden off the scoreboard. But the Monarchs stemmed the rally attempt, holding on for the 7-6 win.

Minden Midgets 1-Millbrook 1

A 1-1 draw was the result when the Minden OMHA midget Monarchs tangled with Millbrook on November 21.

It was a seesaw battle at the Millbrook arena that saw no scoring until the third period. Minden drew first blood at the 4:04 mark of the third. Curtis Fielding was the Minden sharpshooter, with the assists going to Chris Fittell and Darren Mills.

Three minutes later, the home side got on the board and that ended the game's scoring.

The Monarchs were scheduled to play in Omamee on Saturday. Their next home game is this coming Saturday at 9 p.m. against Mariposa.

Police have determined the identity of the person responsible for one of the incidents and the person has been questioned as to his involvement.

The O.P.P. have determined that the incident was a misunderstanding and that the person in no way meant any harm.

This gift could save a life

Each month in Ontario, 1,100 people die from smoking-related causes. They are needless deaths that bring immeasurable pain to the victims, their families and friends.

Smoking is a relatively easy activity to start and extremely difficult to stop. Nicotine is equally or more addictive than heroin. Most smokers start in their early teens and are addicted by the time they're nineteen.

You can help a friend of family member kick this deadly habit by giving a special gift this Christmas. You can make a donation to The Lung Association in the name of your friend and ask us to send that person information on The Lung Association's smoking prevention and cessation programs in your area.

The Lung Association is the oldest health charity in Canada and its smoking cessation programs are rated among the best in the country. The Lung Association's 34 offices across Ontario have helped thousands kick the smoking habit.

Those who have quit have thanked The Lung Association for helping them do something they couldn't have done on their own.

Call 1-800-668-7682 or 324-6497 today for further information on smoking cessation and prevention programs in your area and to make a donation in a friend or relative's name. They'll thank you from the bottom of their heart...and lungs!

When you can't breathe, nothing else matters.

Light up safely

Outdoor decorative lighting safety tips from the Consumer Standards Association (CSA):

- use only CSA-certified light strings and cords that are marked for outdoor use.

- use floodlights or spotlights that are designed to withstand snow and rain.

- turn the electrical supply off before working with outdoor lighting.

- keep electrical connections off the ground and clear of metal objects. Use insulated tape, not nails or tacks to hold strings of outdoor lights in place.

- hang lights with the bulbs pointing downwards to prevent moisture from entering the bulb socket.

- plug all outdoor lighting into receptacles protected by a weather-proof ground fault circuit interrupter.

Association spearheads clothing drive

by Diane Withey

The Minden & Area Police Support Association (MAPSA) is a group of citizen volunteers who work with the O.P.P., generously donating time and ideas to help make Minden and area a peaceful and safer place to live. Volunteers do random street patrols, crowd and traffic control for local events, organize teen activities and assist the O.P.P. in their various campaigns.

The last meeting was held November 14. The business discussed included organizing traffic control for the Santa Claus parade and a Christmas food and toy drive. MAPSA will be providing a drop-off location for non-perishable food items, toys and children's winter apparel. The community police building will be open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on December 3 and 4 to accept donations. Proceeds will go to St. Paul's Anglican Church Food Bank and the Canadian Sunday School Mission. The committee also discussed fund raising ideas. MAPSA will be holding a raffle to raise money for equipment such as radios, flashlights, rain gear and identifying apparel for safely doing street patrols, crowd and traffic control.

Also discussed was the great need for more volunteers. Anyone between the ages of 16 and 75 can be a member. If you are interested in joining the group, please attend the next meeting scheduled for December 12, 1994 at 7 p.m. in the Community Police Building (next to the CIBC, Minden).

Why not get involved in the community? You truly can make a difference!

Road conditions as close as the phone

Help is just a phone call away for travellers looking for up-to-date information on winter weather and driving conditions on Ontario highways.

"Our government is committed to safety," said Transportation Minister Mike Farnan. "And safety is what guides all of our winter activities — from patrolling our highways, to plowing, to getting information to the public."

The Ministry of Transportation's local and toll-free telephone lines provide reports on all provincial highways. Callers can speak directly with an information officer or use a touch-tone or cellular phone to listen to bilingual recorded information. The seasonal service is available now, 24 hours-a-day, seven days a week, until April 3, 1995.

The reports contain the latest information gathered from a computerized weather-tracking system with road condition updates from local ministry maintenance staff.

"Our people are out there patrolling all of Ontario's highways so they know the driving conditions on any given road firsthand," said Farnan. "Travellers can rely on us to let them know what to expect when they get behind the wheel. That way, they can choose the safest route to their destination or decide to wait out a storm."

How soon a provincial highway is cleared after a snowfall depends on the severity of the storm, the highway's location and the volume of traffic it carries. In most cases, roads are cleared within 24 hours after a snowfall.

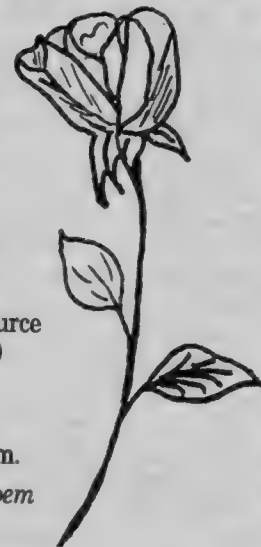

When a snowfall first begins, spreaders apply salt to prevent ice from forming. The salt will help the plows clear the snow as it begins to accumulate. Sand is used when the temperature falls below 18C, when salt is no longer effective. It does not melt snow or ice, but does provide better traction for vehicles.

"Our experienced staff can deal with every imaginable weather condition," Farnan added. "However, drivers have to realize that our crews are out there to help and it is smart to slow down and keep clear of the plows."

The telephone numbers for this area would be Lindsay, (705) 277-3333 or Huntsville (705) 789-4483.

Gift ideas for genealogists

by June Partridge

It seems everyone is starting to think of Christmas and I thought that genealogists and their families might be wondering what the perfect gift might be.

For the genealogist or for the people who are just beginning their search, a SASE (stamped self-addressed envelope) with a family group sheet is a great way to reach all those relatives who you only write to at Christmas. You can buy family group sheets from the Ontario Genealogical Society at 40 Orchard View Blvd. Suite 251, Toronto, Ont. M4R 1B9 or make up your own list of questions.

Even when you know some of the answers it is best to ask all the details again to start the "memory juices" flowing again. The information may include a second name that you previously did not know or the name of an aunt that you previously hadn't any information about because of a family "falling out" that is now patched up.

For those who do not want to buy the group sheets I will outline the headings to make your own: name, date and place of birth, marital status, number of children and their names and birth date and death date for any of the above and place of burial. Religious denomination is a question they may not wish to answer but ask anyway in case you have to look for clues in church baptismal or marriage records.

Don't forget that the Act regarding Privacy of Information will not allow census records past 1901 to be opened up to the public so you will need to get as much information from living relatives or the children of these relatives as possible.

If you have not started a numbering or filing system, this is a good time to start. Your own number is one and from there you number out from your next of kin and on.

Yes, you may get some surprises and need to assign a number later on to someone you forgot or didn't know about but at least you have a reference starting point. When your sheets come back to you, and you find that cousin Sue has four children now, you add the names to your list and assign numbers. Put Sue's number against her name on her parent's list. This way you begin your cross-referencing.

Don't forget to take several of these lists and envelopes to your family get-together at Christmas. You could have a whole room full of people getting excited about your adventure into family history. Sometimes it is a good idea to take along a tape recorder too, rather than trying to remember everything or trying to write as quickly as someone is speaking.

I guess I'm just trying to say be prepared for you never know when or where you may get information. Enlist the help of your spouse and children or your brother and sister.

Now for family members I have some great ideas for Christmas gifts for that budding genealogist in the family. How about giving a membership to a genealogy group? The OGS membership can be paid for through the office at the address that I listed earlier. There is the Haliburton Genealogy group as well at Box 567 Minden Ontario, K0M 2K0. Membership here is only $7.

Or how about a Bell telephone certificate for the genealogist who spends his/her time on the Kintracer Bulletin Board or phones these long lost relatives?

Acid free materials such as boxes for all the information or acid free photographic storage folders are always a welcome gift. These can be purchased in the county so you can shop at home in shops that carry office supplies. What about taking in an old photograph that is deteriorating and having it either encapsulated or restored? Is there a book that your genealogist is anxious to have in the growing library in your home?

I have one caution for your gift list: do not buy a "family crest" from anyone! There are very few people who can claim to have a legitimate family crest. Most of these were given to royalty, and some families from England and Scotland do have legitimate claim to one. The plaster of paris plaques that we see are not authentic and some of these companies have been taken to court and proven guilty of fraud.

Another ruse is a "family tree" that you can order by mail. These are usually a list of names found in any telephone book in a given city from which they claim your family originated. When I bring this topic up at one of our meetings I am always amazed at the number of people who have fallen for this.

Of course if this is what you want to have as a joke then go ahead and buy, knowing that it is not authentic. Genealogy is hard work that is time consuming, and there are no short cuts.

A good way to increase your knowledge about methods of research and networking is through your own family and through genealogy fairs and seminars. The 1995 OGS Seminar takes place in Chatham, Ontario on May 19-21, 1995. Registration for this is available from OGS Seminar, '95 Seminar, Grand Ave. W. Ste. 101, Chatham, Ont. N7L 1C5.

For further information about any of these ideas come out to our next Haliburton Genealogy Group meeting on Wednesday, November 30, 7:00 pm at the Minden Public Library.

This week has been beautiful. It will help to shorten up the winter.

Saturday, Kathleen Owens was with us to play the piano and accordion. She comes a long way to entertain us and we truly thank her.

Another chapter of the book was read to us on Sunday afternoon by Estella Burch. Thank you, we enjoy the story.

In the evening, Rev. John Burgess took the evening chapel service and the congregation appreciate and thank him for his message. As well, we thank June Mason for playing the organ.

On Monday, the election was held in the auditorium so resident's council was held in the craft room. It was well attended. The advocacy members including Pastor Murray were present, reports were given and business attended to.

Tuesday was chapel service led by Rev. Peter Walford-Davis. This service was a memorial for Mrs. May Horsley who passed away recently. In the afternoon we had crafts. We are very busy preparing for our fantastic Christmas gift sale on December 8 from 3 to 9 p.m. In the evening, we had two tables of euchre led by Pearl and Corinne.

Wednesday afternoon we had a discussion with Dottie about what we did for winter activities when we were young. It was interesting to learn how different we all are.

On Thursday morning, Joan Bunn brought our little friend who is a Sheltie puppy for a visit. Later in the afternoon, the Agricultural Society provided us with the tea party. We thank Mary Cox, Zetta Little, Edna Taylor, Joan Moore, Shirley Horsley, Beryl Henderson and Lilian Harrison thanked the ladies on behalf of the residents. In the evening we had bingo with Lee Ann Schlosser.

A group of ladies folded serviettes for the dietary department on Friday morning. Dianna Williams also came to play piano music for us. Later in the afternoon, the Biagis and Mr. Faulkner entertained us at Happy Hour. Mrs. Edith Brittain's son-in-law, Smokey, also joined them. We thank Ellen and Don, Bonnie, Dottie and Pearl, our loyal volunteers.

We welcome Janice Rachar who is a student at Sir Sandford Fleming College. Janice will be here for six months helping the adjutant and activities coordinator and of course, helping us.

By the sounds of the news, winter is almost here.

Natural school yards are disappearing under gravel and asphalt

Reflections

by David Suzuki

When you were a child, was there a special place that evoked wonder, mystery, security? This question was posed by Gary Pennington, an education professor at the University of British Columbia, to 200 people attending a conference in Vancouver on "Learning Grounds—School Naturalization." After an interval of reflection, someone piped up, "a cherry tree", and started a torrent of answers—a ditch, a swamp, my grandpa's garden, a sand dune—and on it went. Many of those magical spots no longer exist. It's not cities or buildings that make Canada an extraordinary land, but the haunting beauty of the Arctic, the endless horizon of grass and sky of the prairies, rugged mountains and ancient rainforests and spectacular autumn leaf-scapes.

These are what inspire our art, poetry, dance and music and evoke the envy of the people abroad who think of Canadians as people of the out of doors.

But now that most of us live in cities, we have been distanced from nature and must make deliberate efforts to experience it.

The Vancouver meeting was an attempt to find ways to bring nature into the lives of urban children by focusing on schools where they spend a large part of their young lives.

When our children were in primary school, Tara and I would organize field trips to the beach when the tide was very low. It was the first time for many of the children to wander the beach, roll over rocks or dip into tide pools even though they live in a city whose beach front is one of the proudest features.

Often the children were afraid or reluctant to put their hands in the water or touch an anemone or crab. But curiosity and exuberance invariably overcame reticence and they were soon immersed in tide pools reveling in their discoveries.

Today, the environment is an integral part of the primary school curriculum. Parents often complain to me that their environmentally aware children are zealous watchdogs.

Yet programs like outdoor education and field trips that offer direct hands-on experience with nature are often the first to be cut in the name of fiscal restraint and a return to the basics. But inspiration and creativity are kindled by touching, smelling and tasting nature, not talking and reading about it. That's why school yards are important. They can provide an opportunity to watch the seasons change, observe the succession of plants through the year and witness the interdependence of insects and plants and birds and soil. Students can see interconnections between air, water and soil and note the remarkable metamorphosis frogs and insects undergo. In school yards, children can actually grow vegetables and flowers and compost their lunch scraps to learn about the relationship between food and soil.

But school yards are seldom designed for the joy of play and discovery. Instead, they are planned out of fear—fear of litigation, fear of accidents, fear of lurking strangers. These concerns must be addressed, of course, but they should not be the primary determinant of how yards are conceived. At the meeting, the parks board member told how clover in a school field had been removed because a teacher had complained that children had been stung by honeybees.

But honeybees die after stinging, so they don't pursue targets and they are essential for the pollination of flowering plants. Children quickly learn to respect honeybees and avoid interfering with their important work. My children's school yard was covered with coarse gravel that causes far more cuts and scrapes than stings when there was grass. The soil is now a toxic desert, saturated with chemicals that will retard plant growth for years!

An outdoor environment should be a place of delight and joy, a place of surprise and constant stimulation.

What could be more enchanting than a pond filled with tadpoles and chirping frogs, trees with low branches to climb, flowering shrubs and edible fruit trees and fields of wild plants to attract butterflies and beetles? It's not necessary to sterilize school grounds to avoid allergies, stings, water accidents and assaults by drunks and perverts.

School land is constantly being taken over for more parking, new portables, sheds for tools and specialized playing fields. The remaining space should be one of those places children will remember later in life.

Right now they are learning that nature is frightening so we nuke weeds and insects with chemicals; soil is "dirty" so we cover it with asphalt or gravel; wild things are tough and dangerous, so we prefer weak, dependent grass; children have little need for or lessons to learn from nature.

Greening of school yards reflects a change in attitude that is vital in a new relationship with the rest of life on Earth. (The Evergreen Foundation is one of the organizations attempting to green urban areas. They can be reached in Toronto at (416) 596-1495.)

Acid rain report

The following report on acid precipitation was recorded at the Ministry of Environment and Energy site near Dorset and compiled by Environment Canada.

This report covers the period November 13 to 19:

Jacqueline Mathwitch and her parents, Walter and Vera Stevens of Hunter Creek Estates were in an accident on Highway 35 Tuesday evening, November 22 after visiting doctors in Lindsay. Mrs. Stevens called to tell us she and her husband suffered no serious after-effects and were very thankful for all the help from the Good Samaritans who stopped to help.

AT REST

HEWITT,

DALTON DOUGLAS

Suddenly at the Peterborough Civic Hospital on Wednesday, November 23, 1994. Beloved infant son of Kim and Andrea Hewitt of Minden, dear grandson of Isabell and Everett Fairey and Mabel and Keith Brannigan. A private family funeral service was held from the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, Minden on Saturday, November 26, 1994. Interment Minden Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

ANDERSON, Ernest - In loving memory of a dear father who passed away December 4, 1993.

We had a Dad with a heart of gold,
 Who was more to us than wealth untold,
 Without farewell he fell asleep,
 With only memories for us to keep.

Always remembered,
 Lawrence & Marilyn.

HUGHES, Shirley - In loving memory of a wonderful mother and grandmother who passed away November 27, 1990.

Remembering you is easy,
 We do it every day
 Missing you is a heartache
 That never goes away.
 You had a smile for everyone
 You had a heart of gold,
 You left the sweetest memory
 The world could ever hold.
 To us you are someone special
 What more is there to say,
 Except to wish with all our hearts
 That you were here today.
 Sadly missed and always loved,
 Joanne, Kirk, Kevin & Janine Harrison.

Cowboys That Care
 would like to make it known that the reason for the cancellation of our Christmas Dance is the lack of ticket sales.

We apologise for any inconvenience to those who did purchase tickets.

We look forward to being of service to the community again in the future.
